3 To whom does this policy apply

This policy must be read together with the Code of Ethics and Conduct and applies to the following:

- FAIS-affected persons.
- The following financial services providers (FSPs) within the group:
 - Nedbank Limited – FSP 9363.
 - Nedgroup Private Wealth (Pty) Ltd – FSP 828.
 - Nedgroup Private Wealth Stockbrokers (Pty) Ltd – FSP 50399.
 - Nedgroup Financial Advisers (Pty) Ltd – FSP 48771.
 - Nedgroup Investment Advisors (Pty) Ltd – FSP 1652.
 - Nedgroup Life Assurance Company Ltd – FSP 40915.
 - Nedgroup Insurance Company Ltd – FSP 41104.
- Management of an FSP who takes actions that could create actual or potential conflict of interest affecting the fairness and impartiality of the financial services offered to clients.
- Service suppliers that provide FAIS-related services and/or products.

4 Key principles

In terms of key principles, we must:

- identify conflicts of interest through reviewing distribution models, remuneration models for representatives, third-party relationships, service supplier arrangements, FAIS disclosures, financial and immaterial interests received and offered;
- guide and train all representatives and employees on conflict-of-interest procedures as they are subject to annual monitoring and review;
- conduct regular inspections on all commissions, remuneration, fees and financial interests proposed or received to avoid non-compliance;
- keep a register of conflicts of interest; and
- inform clients at the earliest reasonable opportunity of the existence of this policy and how it can be accessed.

5 Disclosure requirements

If we cannot avoid a conflict of interest, we must mitigate and disclose it. We must disclose all conflicts of interest that could affect that client, in writing, as soon as possible. The disclosure must set out:

- the reasons, facts and circumstances giving rise to the conflict of interest;
- measures taken to mitigate the conflict of interest;
- any ownership interest or financial interest that we could become eligible for;
- the nature of our relationship or arrangement with a third party that gives rise to a conflict of interest, so that the client understands the exact nature of the conflict of interest; and
- the existence of this policy at the earliest reasonable opportunity and how it can be accessed.

6 When financial interests are allowed

If the product supplier and the FSP are different entities, we may receive or offer the following financial interests only:

- Commission and fees for the provision of financial services authorised under the Long-term Insurance Act, 52 of 1998, and the Short-term Insurance Act, 53 of 1998.
- Fees that are not covered by the FSP under the regulatory requirements mentioned above, if the client has agreed to them in writing. The fee agreement must show the amount, frequency, payment method and details of the services provided, with the fee charged in proportion with the services provided. The client may ask us to stop these fees at any time and we must do so.
- Fees or remuneration for the rendering of a service to a third party that are or is in proportion with the service being provided, with the skills and competencies that are required considered. FAIS-affected persons are still bound by the FAIS Act to give appropriate advice.
- An Immaterial financial interest.
- A financial interest that is not referred to above for which a fair value or remuneration is paid by the same FSP on behalf of which the representatives and key individuals provide financial services.

All fees, commission, and remuneration that we receive or pay must be recorded and audited in line with the prescribed procedure.

If the financial interests are paid to representatives in the same entity, the determination of the financial interests must consider the following:

- Minimum service-level standards
- Fair outcomes for clients
- Quality of representatives' compliance with the FAIS Act

All financial interests (including immaterial financial interests) received from FSPs outside of Nedbank must be declared on the Employee Portal. The paying of travel and accommodation costs on behalf of employees by third parties is strictly not allowed unless it is for a specific and justifiable business reason and has been approved by the appropriate governance structure of the applicable cluster.

FSPs and representatives may offer or receive a financial interest in relation to training for regulatory examinations if the training is not:

- exclusive to a select group of FSPs or representatives;
- subject to giving preference to the quantity of business secured for the FSP to the exclusion of the quality of service rendered to clients;
- subject to giving preference to a specific product supplier, where an FSP or representative may recommend more than 1 product supplier to a client; or
- subject to giving preference to a specific product of a product supplier, where an FSP or representative may recommend more than 1 product of the product supplier to a client.

All remuneration models for representatives must be signed off by the appropriate governance structure of the applicable cluster.

7 When financial interests are not allowed

We may not offer financial interests to our FAIS-affected persons or associates for giving preference to:

- the quantity of business secured without due regard to the delivery of fair outcomes for clients;
- a product supplier where a FAIS-affected person may recommend more than 1 product supplier to a client; or
- a specific product of a product supplier where a FAIS-affected person may recommend more than 1 product of that supplier to a client.

We may not receive financial interests or pay our representatives in the following circumstances:

- If remunerated more than once for providing the financial service.
- The actual or perceived conflicts of interest between the client and the representative have not been mitigated.
- The payment hinders the delivery of fair outcomes to clients.
